February 2, 2018

On Friday, February 2, 2018, Pat Blankenship, father, grandfather, uncle, and brother of Commerce City, CO, passed away at the age of 72. Pat will be remembered and always loved by his children, Patrick, Jackie, Jennifer, Cindy, Alan, Alan's wife Helen, his brothers, Bob and Harold, along with many nieces, nephews, and grandchildren. They will celebrate his life every day.

Pat was a devoted father who always looked after his children and grandchildren first. Pat enjoyed listening to classic rock concerts and sharing stories from when he was younger. Pat's favorite stories were always about his trips around Colorado.

Pat was a professional drywaller since he was a teenager. He successfully became licensed as a contractor in the state of Colorado and continued to hang drywall until October 2017. From a young age, Pat was a talented musician. He would play the guitar and piano with his friends for family and often play for crowds at local establishments. During his time off, he enjoyed jogging near the river where he would also take his grandson Alex to skip rocks, as well as talking on the phone with son Patrick, or going out and "watching the dogs".

Pat is preceded in death by his mother, father, brother Chris, sister Vonda, grandson Justin, and wives Brenda Sills-Blankenship and Jan Robinson.

Per Pat's requests, no services are scheduled at this time. Please contact family for any updated private memorial information.

“ He always tried hard to live in Iowa but could never the cold winters. He was very likable and charming, even when you was mad at him. He liked the color red especially when it came to cars. He was very proud of his red convertible he came home. He would come up with some crazy ideas.

“ His kindness and love for his family including those of us that are considered his extended family will miss his cooking. That's what makes a good man is the love he pours into his cooking. His smile will be missed. We feel blessed to have known him.
